

OCTOBER 2012

10.24.2012 (Publications) – Word on the street is it's United Nations Day. That's cool and all, but it's also Web Tip Wednesday!

Last week we threw a lot of information out at you, so this week we'll keep it simple. For those of you looking for work and interested in doing business with us, we recommend bookmarking our Procurement page. It is located in the Business Center, linked at the top right corner of our home page. Procurement is where we post information about any open Requests (RFPs) or Invitations (IFBs), and we have one up right now. So if you are a contractor, or you know one, then why not poke around in our Business Center? We'd love to do business with you. Thank you, and have a great day!

10.17.2012 (Miscellaneous) – For Web Tip Wednesday today, we've got a bunch of notices for you.

New Schedules - went into effect Monday. Did you know about it? Have you picked up a copy of the new schedules for your routes? Do you want to tell us what you like and don't like about them? We want to hear from you! Please come to our...

Public Meetings - Join us on Saturday morning at the Carnegie Branch Library on Henry St. Details for the event are listed here on Facebook (under events) and on our website on the Upcoming Events page. You can find out about Mammogram Day there, too, and it's where we'll post info about 5 more public meetings scheduled before the end of the year. Another exciting event on the horizon is the...

Rock 'n' Roll Marathon - It'll be here in a couple of weeks, so find information under Maps & Schedules. Then it's practically...

Election Day - We know not everyone is interested in politics, but the beauty of our system is that everyone gets a say anyway. So get out there and voice your opinion. Georgia.gov has everything you need to know about voting early, and we'd be proud to take you to and from the booth.

There's lots more we could go on about, so why not wander through our website and see what else you can find? It's all there just for you. Thank you as always, and have a great day!

10.10.2012 (New Schedules Preview) – It has been a whirlwind of a day today, but it's still Web Tip Wednesday and we haven't forgotten you. Today we'd like to direct you to our brand new preview page of the schedules that will go into effect on Monday, October 15th. We created this page (in the Maps & Schedules section) to help you prepare for the changes that will be taking place on the 15th. As you may know from our public meetings, press releases, and website, CAT is moving towards a "pulse" system with the new downtown transit center. That requires some of our current routing and times to be adjusted, and we're handling it in stages to try to lessen the impact to you and your commute. We hope you'll take advantage of the schedules preview we've set up, and as always, we welcome your feedback. Thank you, and have a great evening!

10.3.2012 (Headlines) – Hey y'all, it's Web Tip Wednesday time! This week we bring your attention to a small but important feature on our home page at www.catchacat.org. We have scrolling headlines of the latest press releases that you can click on to go right to and read (see picture below). Our press releases are usually short articles about events we're involved in or service information we think you want to know about. Press releases are shared with the media, but we know that not everyone gets the paper. Also, posting press releases on our website allows us to include links and additional content that isn't possible in print. So keep an eye out for the scrolling headlines on our home page and enjoy the latest information directly from the source. Thank you!

The screenshot shows the CAT Chatham Area Transit website home page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "Getting Around", "Maps & Schedules", "Rider Tools", "Fares & Passes", "Accessibility", and "About CAT". A search bar is located on the right. Below the navigation bar is a large banner for "Fall: The Season of Change" with a background image of autumn leaves. A yellow box highlights a "Latest Headlines" section with a "4" in a square, indicating a scrollable list of items. Below the banner is a "Trip Planner" section with a form for "Where's My Bus?", "Visiting Savannah", and "Upcoming Events". The bottom section contains several service tiles: "Maps & Schedules", "Fares & Passes", "Accessibility", "Ride Free Downtown", and "System Status". A footer at the bottom provides links for various services and programs.
